Why Are Cookies Important?

Our Website uses Cookies to distinguish you from other Users of our Website. This helps us to provide you with a good, personalised experience when you browse our Website and also allows us to improve our Website.

Do Cookies Have Expiration Date?

All Cookies have expiration dates in them that determine how long they stay in your browser:

- Session Cookies – these are temporary Cookies that expire (and are automatically erased) whenever you close your browser. For example, session Cookies can be used to grant access to content and enable commenting (things you have to login to do).
- Persistent Cookies – these usually have an expiration date and so stay in your browser until they expire, or until you manually delete them. For example, persistent Cookies can be used for functionality including the “Stay logged-in” tick box. We also can use persistent Cookies to better understand usage patterns so that we can improve the Website for our Users.

We have included more details below to help you understand what kinds of Cookies and we use.
